GUIDING NEXT STEPS

Hagopian Ink maintained a 5-year retainer to collaborate with Pepsi's in-house digital marketing department to complete ongoing email campaigns to each target market. Individual email campaigns were updated several times a month with 5-6 brand messages per email. Our most recent updates included responsive designs for mobile devices, and adding another layer of localization and personalization.

Burberry started a relationship with Hagopian Ink by working together on its first e-commerce website. We continued with for a variety of services to increase sales and traffic to the site.

Hagopian Ink managed monthly updates to the site to keep it fresh and original, created web-based advertisements and promotions, and designed and developed weekly email campaigns, Hagopian Ink's graphic-rich emails and ads resulted in greatly increased click-through traffic and online sales every week.

When Sesame Workshop launched a new mobile application version of their current video on-demand program, Sesame Street Go, Hagopian Ink was their strategic marketing partner. We created an email communications program to interact with new and existing subscribers of Sesame Go.

INCREASING ENGAGEMENT

After launching using our mobile email templates, Sesame Street Go saw a steady increase each month in the number of unique click-throughs and unique opens, with their newsletters beating statistical averages when compared with competitors in similar categories.

Re-engaging an uninterested audience

Audible, the largest seller and producer of spoken audio media, needed a partner to perform all elements of front end campaign development for their Pre-lapse email series.

Decreasing cancellation

Audible knows that if a new listener doesn't listen within a certain period of time, they are much more likely to cancel their subscription. Our goal was to help reengage new subscribers who were not listening to their new audio books, help them find another book or guide them to find new ways to listen. The reengagement series was essential to decreasing cancellation.

gwynnie bee

Elevating subscription email acquisition with style

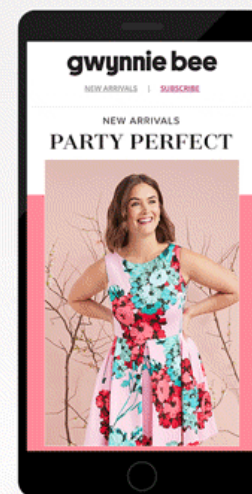

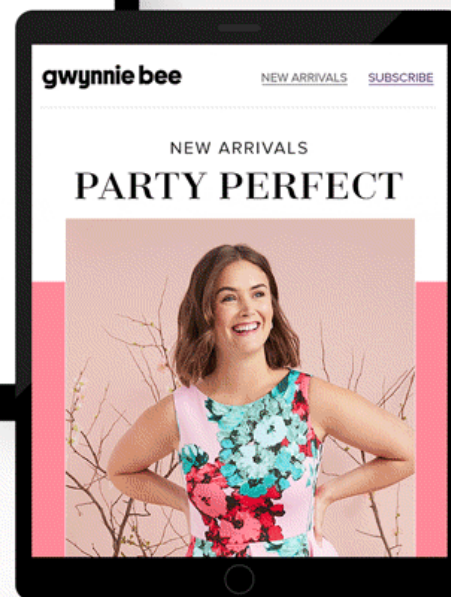

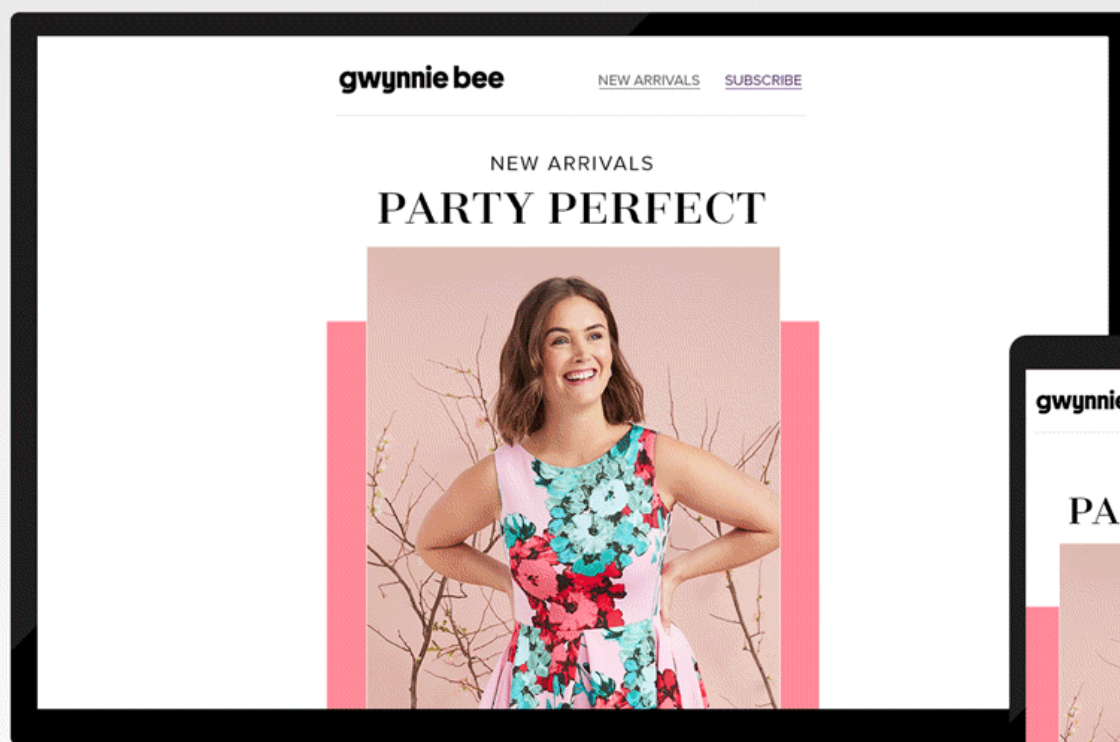

Gwynnie Bee, a clothing rental subscription service for women sizes 10-32, has contracted us on an annual retainer to perform all elements of campaign development and execution for all direct response creative acquisition efforts. Hagopian Ink designs, builds and integrates ongoing emails to do what we do best— drive traffic to increase conversions.

One of our latest initiatives was a win-back series to help address cancelled subscribers. Our job was to understand behaviors of women who no longer wished to receive Gwynnie Bee and address their objectives to bring them back. We are currently monitoring this new program and will adjust our creative based on conversion metrics.

Subscription Fitness System

Fitness trainer and p.volve founder Stephen Pasterino created a line of fitness products and streaming workouts to reach a wider audience. P.volve was looking to grow their business and we partnered to perform all elements of email campaign development and execution for subscriber acquisition.

Created a wide range of designs to accommodate announcements, events, news, testimonials, products and streaming services. We crafted a welcome series, app onboarding, winback series and upsell strategies. Mailchimp implementation enabled the P.volve team to take over design and development over time.

FRETTE

ESCAPE TO ITALY:

A sophisticated driver of list building, traffic and sales

To launch Frette's multi-channel marketing contest, we designed promotional emails, developed the contest entry form, created in-store signage, point-of-purchase displays and ads that ran on the websites of the Wall Street Journal and The New York Times. Every aspect of the campaign reinforced the brand as a leader in Italian luxury. Email opt-ins, traffic and sales increased through targeted email marketing, online ads, store and web entry forms, tell-a-friend links and promotional codes.

Escape to Italy exceeded all expectations.

Evolving dip for the “canna-curious” man

Cannadips knew they had an opportunity to utilize the power of email marketing to help increase brand awareness and sales of their unique, tobacco-free CBD pouch-in-mouth product.

Cannadips had a unique story to tell about their proprietary process and cannabis pouch – shifting the paradigm of tobacco by providing a nicotine-free alternative tobacco product to the market. We used email to tell this narrative and introduced new customers to the brand in a welcome series. We increased the value of their existing customers with abandon cart, subscription, upsell and refer-a-friend programs – all tried and true messaging tactics.

“The email strategy and automated flows you created delivered a lift in our online sales by 5% - 10% through both basic and strategic email executions. And even better, we are doing it through email communications that are on-brand and improving the frequency of our brand touches with our consumers. In the two years we worked with you, email now makes up 5% of all sales. The investment was well worth it and has created an annuity by regenerating revenue year after year.”

SERIOUS ABOUT OUR INGREDIENTS AS WE ARE ABOUT OUR IPAs.

We wholeheartedly believe what's inside matters. That's why we utilize only the highest quality, non-synthetic American grown hemp straight from nature and deliver 'em to each can. Heck, it's even vegan, and gluten free.

But what really makes us true renegades, pioneers in the wild, is our ability to control the dosing experience. By isolating different receptors with terpenes (these are like a gps for cbd) you get to choose your own adventure.

AS YOU DIP INTO YOUR TIN AND ESCAPE THE ORDINARY, MAYBE YOU'RE WONDERING JUST WHERE THESE POUCHES OF GLORY COME FROM.

Our story begins deep in the heart of Humboldt County, California, home to small-town hardworking American folk and renegade farmers—and the mecca of cannabis cultivation. Many of these coastal cowboys, as we like to call them, labored the land through sticky summers, growing off the grid, even dodging some close calls with the law—and all because they believed in their product. Today these stories are the stuff of legend.

It's in that outlaw spirit and quality of craft that we manufacture each batch of CannadipsCBD in the region that

Copy development including overall messaging, subject line strategy, and calls to action to increase engagement and open rates

O3. Design + Development

Overall concept look and feel for a collection of key template designs, HTML development and cross browser/platform system testing.

O4. Deployment + Monitoring

Ongoing email development, deployment, list management, iterations and A/B testing. Manage success metrics including open, click, forward, share and unsubscribe rates.

Thanks.
